6th Congress of the European Association of Dermatologic Oncology

Dear Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to attend the “6th Congress of the European Association of Dermatologic Oncology” which will be held in the beautiful resort of Astir Palace Hotel in Vouliagmeni, Athens on June 16-19, 2010. The Congress is organized by the European Association of Dermatologic Oncology, a leading international organization in the field of skin cancer, in collaboration with the Department of Dermatology of the University of Athens.

As a wealth of new information is arising from the rapidly evolving field of cutaneous oncology, the 6th EADO Congress aims to provide you with a comprehensive overview of the most recent advances in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancers. During the Congress you will have the opportunity to attend state-of-the-art presentations given by leading experts in the field and to participate in informative discussions covering the entire spectrum of cutaneous malignancies, including melanoma, cutaneous lymphoma, epithelial skin cancers and other skin tumors. Keynote lectures, plenary sessions and interactive symposia will focus on the most current and controversial topics of dermatologic oncology, from the epidemiology, biology and genetics of melanoma to the results of the most recent therapeutic trials and translational research on malignant skin tumors. In addition, abstract submission will offer a unique opportunity to discuss your work with faculty and congress participants. The ultimate goal of the meeting is to enhance your knowledge with up-to-date information and address important issues that will assist you on your everyday management of patients with melanoma and other skin tumors. The Congress will also offer a capacious industrial exhibition, as well as a number of social events and opportunities to travel to the surroundings of Athens and the nearby islands.

We look forward to welcoming you at the exciting and cultural city of Athens for an event that promises to be a valuable scientific exchange. Your participation and input will add immensely to the goals of this international multidisciplinary meeting.

Sincerely,

Alexander J. Stratigos, MD

1st International Summit for Nail Diseases 2-4 July 2010
Organized by the Hellenic Society of Dermatology & Venereology

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Organizing Committee, we cordially invite you to the 1st International Summit for Nail Diseases to be held from 2nd to 4th of July 2010, in Athens.

The field of Nail Diseases has been attracting the attention of the scientific community over the past 30 years. Our scientific programme will cover the “hottest” topics of our subspecialty including recent developments and therapeutic methods. This goal will be successfully fulfilled thanks to the contribution of distinguished invited speakers with the hope of achieving a fair balance not only between basic and clinical science, but also between preventive and therapeutic approaches. In addition, information on the current state of the art through lectures, sessions and most importantly hands-on workshops with the new data will be presented by the experts in the field.

Furthermore, the city of Athens is the metropolis of western cultural history with unique archaeological sites. The Acropolis, the New Acropolis Archaeological Museum, the National Gallery, and many other museums and archaeological attractions in Athens are musts.

For us this effort was a source of creative joy and stimulating pleasure that we invite you to share with us along with professionals of international scientific reputation during next July 2010 in the vibrant city of Athens.

We look forward to your active participation,

Dimitrios Rigopoulos
Associate Professor of Dermatology
President of the Summit
